The Most Discussed Book

Of the present period of the publishing season is Mr. T. W. H. Crosland's

THE

Unspeakable Scot

There is every indication of a large demand for this half-serious indictment of Scotchmen. The book is interesting and piquant in the extreme. (July 7).

LENOX and the BERKSHIRE HIGHLANDS

By R. DE WITT MALLARY. 8vo. Fully illustrated from specially prepared photographs, net, $1.75 (by mail, $1.90).

A beautiful, valuable, and interesting book. It will satisfy all readers who care for the Berkshires, whether their bent is for history, recreation, literature, or natural beauty.

LIFE AT WEST POINT

The Making of an American Army Officer : His Studies, Discipline and Amusements. By H. IRVING HANCOCK. With an Introduction by A. L. MILLS, Colonel U. S. A., and Superintendent of the U. S. Military Academy. 12mo. Fully illustrated, net, $1.40 (by mail, $1.50).

SPANISH LIFE IN TOWN AND COUNTRY

By L. HIGGIN. No. 6. in Our European Neighbours Series. 12mo. Fully illustrated, net, $1.20 (by mail, $1.30).

As each volume of this charming series has appeared, it has been hailed as the "best of the group." It is indeed a very interesting book, and well maintains the extraordinary merit of the series.

NOTES IN SEASON.

LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY have just ready a new juvenile by Miss M. E. Waller, entitled "The Little Citizen," which will be found entertaining by young people and an influence for good. It has four spirited illustrations by H. G. Burgess.

R. H. RUSSELL has just brought out "The Wind in the Tree," a volume of short stories by the Duchess of Sutherland, who is no less distinguished in England for her literary ability than for her beauty. The volume has a frontispiece by Walter Crane.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just ready Richard Harding Davis's new book "Ranson's Folly"; also, the first two volumes of the Beacon Edition of the collected works of F. Hopkinson Smith, which they are publishing by arrangement with Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. will publish shortly "Principles of English Constitutional History," by Lucy Dale, who presupposes a certain knowledge of what are commonly called the facts of English history, and therefore deals rather with the principles by the light of which alone these facts can really become intelligible.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have again been obliged to postpone "The Pharaoh and the Priest," the historical novel of ancient Egypt, translated from the original Polish of Alexander Glovatski, by Jeremiah Curtin, which they expected to publish before this. The author gives a vivid picture of the conflict between the secular and the ecclesiastical powers of Egypt in the time of Rameses XIII, eleven centuries before Christ. The volume is now promised to be ready in September.

LAIRD & LEE announce besides Opie Read's "The Starbucks," a strong character study by Miles Sandys entitled "Michael Carmichael," illustrated with nine half tone plates; also, D'Annunzio's "The Dead City," the play in which Duse takes the leading part, rendered into English by Professor C. Mantellini, which will have a colored frontispiece and a number of illustrations in black and white. A full line of Laird & Lee's newest publications will be shown during the book fair, to be held next week, at the Palmer House. They will occupy Room 448, and will make representatives of the trade welcome.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just ready "Delhi, 1857," by Sir Henry Norman, a direct and interesting account of the great mutiny in India, with an exact description of the siege, assault and capture of Delhi, with numerous illustrations; also "Numbers" and the "Earlier Pauline Epistles," two new volumes of the Temple Bible. They have in preparation a new novel by Jack London, dealing with life in the Klondike region, to be entitled "A Daughter of the Snows." The illustrations of this book are to be by Yohn, and will be in colors. Another volume under way is a romance by Cyrus Townsend Brady entitled "Woven with a Ship."

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish at once T. W. H. Crosland's book on "The Unspeakable Scot," in which the author will try to prove that "in politics, art, letters, journalism, and sundry other departments of activity the Scot has never accomplished anything that really matters, and a lot more that will be unpleasant reading for "Sandy." They have nearly ready a work entitled "The Papal Monarchy," by Dr. William Barry, who describes the rise and fall of the Papacy as a world power in the period from the reign of Gregory the Great to Boniface VII. Dr. Barry, a well-known Catholic, will deal only with facts, not with speculations. They have in preparation "The Strange Story of Dr. Fortescue," a detective story, by Elizabeth Kent. This is a pseudonym, the author being a woman of prominence in New York society, now in Europe.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

☞ Beginning with the issue of July 5, 1902, the titles of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The titles of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. Net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price. ☜

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Needell, Mrs. J: Hodder. Unstable as water. N. Y., F: Warne & Co., 1902. 3-318 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The hero, Will Lambert, becomes the owner of a fine estate, through the supposed death of his cousin Roger Ormskirke. The latter, after spending seven years a captive in a prison in the Soudan, makes his escape and notifies his London lawyer that he is still alive. This news the lawyer communicates to Lambert forty-eight hours before his proposed marriage to a beautiful woman of social position. Lambert pretends not to have received the communication and goes on with his marriage. His cousin Roger in a short time appears in the flesh. Lambert's falsehood and deceit lead to tragical episodes.

Young, C: A: Manual of astronomy: a text-book. Bost., Ginn, 1902. c. 7+611 p. il. O. hf. leath., $2.45.

Prepared in response to a demand for a class-room text-book intermediate between the author's "General astronomy" and his "Elements of astronomy." The former is found to be too bulky for convenient use in the curriculum of many institutions, while the latter is too meagre, and does not sufficiently utilize the mathematical knowledge possessed by the pupils when they naturally take up astronomy. The manual is largely made up of material drawn from the earlier books, but rearranged, rewritten when necessary, and added to, in order to suit it to its purpose, and bring it thoroughly down to date.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JULY 5, 1902.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

DEMAND FOR ENGLISH LITERATURE ON THE CONTINENT.

THE British Consul at Leghorn in his recent annual report calls attention to a fact that we have before endeavored to impress upon the American publisher, namely, that the knowledge of the English language and English literature is steadily widening, and that books printed in English are increasingly saleable in Italy as well as in France and Germany.

The Consul points out that nearly every educated Tuscan or Roman reads English and takes an interest in English literature—as any one acquainted with our Italian immigrants might know. "Small, inexpensive, neatly bound and effectively printed editions of the English classics," he continues, "should be enjoying a far greater sale than they have at present. And the same may be said of illustrated works on art, historical memoirs, and books of travel. British publishers rely too much on the few energetic Italian booksellers who are in the habit of keeping a lookout for the latest things published in the United Kingdom. . . . British publishers should obtain lists of the principal booksellers in the principal Italian cities and advise them by circulars and advertisements in Italian or French of any publications which are likely to be suitable for sale in Italy. . . . I am of opinion that there are no less than thirty cities in Italy where a moderate sale in cheap and well-got-up British books might be looked for."

These remarks may be addressed with equal force to American publishers. Year by year the English language grows in importance as a world language, hence, the demand for books in the English language is bound to grow in other than English-speaking countries. This field is now being cultivated on a hand-to-mouth plan by foreign booksellers who are either insufficiently acquainted with the sources of supply, or who are not particularly desirous to develop their trade in English books. Judging, however, from the results of the efforts made by the few continental booksellers who take an intelligent interest in the matter, and from the successful canvass of the publishers of a recently-established American magazine, we are confident that in a short time it will become necessary for the publishing trade of the United States to consider the advisability of fostering and extending trade on the continent—pushing it even into Russia—or else to let the opportunity go and leave the field to English competitors exclusively.

THE STATUS OF THE SECOND-CLASS MAIL CONTEST.

THERE appears to be a misunderstanding generally concerning the exact status of the injunctions restraining the Postmaster-General from excluding a group of fourteen "mail-order periodicals from the second-class privilege."

The cases came originally before Justice Bradley of the District Supreme Court, who died leaving them unsettled. They then came up in due course before Justice Barnard, who was obliged to cut them short in order to keep a personal engagement of long standing, and so the whole batch went over to the fall term. This became the sole basis for the report that the Justice had not dissolved, but continued, the injunctions, and that the publishers had scored a victory over the Post-office Department. Technically, it is quite true that the injunctions were not dissolved, but were continued, as the Justice could do nothing else with unheard cases. Actually, both parties are precisely in the same situation as before the cases came up for argument, the rights of neither having been in any way prejudiced by the postponement.

According to the Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post, "the Justice's theory in cutting the hearing short and leaving matters as they were was that, as the periodicals involved had been paying only second-class postage for several years, the Government would not suffer appreciably by letting them continue doing the same thing a few months longer. As a matter of fact, however—assuming, as many competent lawyers do, that the injunctions will be finally dissolved—the Government will lose a good many thousand dollars by the continuance, but the publishers will lose ultimately more, because, if the decision had been made now against them, they would have been able to readjust their business to the new conditions in the dull part of the year, and when the autumn season opened their advertising and subscriptions would have been upon a basis acceptable to the Department, so that they could have got the full benefit of the revival of trade. As it is, if the decision of the court is adverse, they will have missed this opportunity, and will have to plunge into the whole process of readjustment at a time when other publishers have their affairs in shape to catch the advantage of whatever is coming their way.

"One thing which causes so much confidence among usually well-informed observers that the Government will ultimately win this fight, is the growing indisposition of the courts to supersede the Executive authority by the judicial in matters where discretion plays a large part, and where distinctions of fact have continually to be drawn between different members of apparently one class of things."

PRINTING AND PUBLISHING IN THE UNITED STATES.

The Census Bureau issued on the 1st inst. a report on printing and publishing—especially of newspapers and periodicals in the United States—which shows a capital of $292,517,072 invested in the 22,312 establishments reporting for the industry. The value of the products is returned at $347,055,050, to produce which involved an outlay of $36,090,719 for salaries of officials, clerks, etc.; $84,249,889 for wages; $55,897,529 for miscellaneous expenses and $86,856,290 for materials used.

The report says that when the two branches of the industry are separated—as far as separation of products so closely related is possible—the total value of all book and job printing products is about equal to the total value of all distinctive newspaper products; the former, including the printing and publishing of music, being $168,930,707, or 48.7 per cent. of the total, and the latter $175,789,610, or 50.7 per cent. of the total.

The capital invested in both branches of this industry showed a marked increase, while the value of products per establishment declined. The number of establishments in the newspaper and periodical branches, proportionately 83 to every 100 publications in 1890, remained nearly stationary in 1900, being 84 to every 100 publications.

Of all newspaper and periodical establishments, 63.3 per cent. were owned by individuals; 19.7 per cent. in partnership, and only 17 per cent. by corporations, indicating that combinations of any consequence are unlikely in this industry.

The total number of wage earners increased only 10 per cent., but the value of products earned by them increased 24 per cent.

Of the total value of products, advertising formed 43 per cent., subscriptions and sales 35.8 per cent., and book and job printing, including miscellaneous products, 21.2 per cent.

The proportion of subscriptions and sales steadily declined from 1880, while the proportion which advertising formed steadily increased until it was over half.

In 1890 the increase in the number of all publications was greater than the increase in population, but in 1900 the increase in number of publications and in population was about the same.

During the decade there was an increase in the proportion of daily, tri-weekly, semi-weekly and monthly publications; a marked decline in the proportion of publications devoted to special topics and an advance only in the classes devoted to news topics and to general reading. The total circulation per issue of dailies was enough to supply one for every five inhabitants. The total circulation per issue of weeklies and monthlies was one to two inhabitants.

Publications printed in English formed 94.3 per cent. of all publications reporting for 1900; showing a considerable increase over the corresponding figures for the preceding decade.

One and one-quarter billion pounds of paper were used during the census year. Of this amount 77.6 per cent. was consumed for newspapers, 16.4 per cent. for books and periodicals, and 6 per cent. for job printing; but the proportionate cost was 58.7 per cent., 24.7 per cent. and 16.6 per cent respectively.

Daily evening newspapers increased more rapidly than daily morning papers. In 1890 there were two evening papers to every morning paper; in 1900 the proportion was about three to one.

Ten leading States supplied four-fifths of the circulation per issue of all publications.

Weekly publications were more numerous in proportion to inhabitants in the West and Northwest. New England ranked high in dailies but low in weeklies suggesting that in that densely settled region the daily had to some extent supplanted the weekly. New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania show the most striking advance in the proportion of the total circulation reported.

There were fifteen different languages or combinations of languages represented in 1880, thirty in 1890 and twenty-five in 1900. The principal languages in which increases in the number of periodicals published were shown in 1900 were English, Bohemian, Hebrew, Italian, Polish, Scandinavian and Spanish.

Decreases were shown in the number of periodicals published in Dutch, French and German. The languages represented by publications in 1880 or 1890 but not in 1900 were Armenian, Catalan, Gaelic, Irish, "Volapuk" and Welsh.

New York City, with a population of 3,437,202, has 58 papers, 29 of which are morning and 29 evening, the aggregate circulation per issue being 2,732,089, and the number of inhabitants to each copy per issue being 1.26.

REV. LOUIS ROU'S CRITICAL REMARKS ON CHESS.

WILLIARD FISKE, through the librarian of the Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., is asking for information in regard to the missing manuscript of a tract relating to chess, written in 1734 by Rev. Louis Rou, then pastor of the French Protestant Church of New York City, and entitled: "Critical Remarks upon the Letter to The Craftsman on the Game of Chess, occasioned by his Paper of the 15th of Sept., 733, and dated from Slaughter's Coffee-House, Sept. 21." This manuscript, of which a brief account is given in the pamphlet, was during 1858-9 in the possession of George Henry Moore, then librarian of the New York Historical Society, by whom it was lent for a short time to Mr. Fiske; but its present whereabouts are not known to the New York Historical Society nor to the Lenox Library, with which Mr. Moore subsequently became connected in 1872.

The circumstances of the preparation of the tract are interesting. In 1733 an "Essay on Chess" had appeared in The Craftsman, a Tory paper published in London, and edited by Lord Bolingbroke and other opponents of the house of Brunswick—in reality a bold political document in allegorical form. Lord Hervey replied for the Court in a pamphlet written in the same strain, entitled: "Letter to The Craftsman on the Game of Chess, occasioned by his Paper of the 15th of this month." It was dated from Slaughter's Coffee-House, Sept. 21, 1733. This letter was widely circulated by friends of the Government, and a copy reached Gov. William Cosby, of New York, who requested Rou to write out some critical remarks on the chess portion of the letter. Thus Rou prepared the manuscript in question (for some reason never printed,) in which he criticized with much display of learning and knowledge of chess the many errors regarding the game which he found in both the letters.

MARSHALL LEFFERTS'S AMERICANA SOLD.

THE American portion of the library of Marshall G. Lefferts, sold June 9 and 10, at Sotheby's, London, realized $19,011.37 for the 337 lots offered for sale. The total realized for the English section sold in April last by Bangs & Co. is estimated to have been between $37,000 and $40,000, so that the lots sold at auction aggregated possibly $60,000. In addition, a number of books of extreme rarity were sold in a private manner by George H. Richmond, who bought the entire collection from Mr. Lefferts last fall. At the Sotheby sale many of the rarer books were sold to American collectors.

The following were among the more valuable sold in London:

Eliot's "Indian Bible," one of the twenty copies sent to England for presentation purposes, bound by Bedford, £370.

Budd's "Good Order Established in New Jersey," a little volume which bears the distinction of being the first book printed south of Massachusetts, by Bradford, (two leaves in facsimile,) £125.

Franklin's edition of "Cato Major," 1744, £80.

"Indian Wars in New England," a complete set of five rare folios published from 1675 to 1677, £125.

Letter from the King to Earl Southampton, Treasurer, and the Council of Virginia, commanding the setting up of silk works and the planting of vines in Virginia; also "A Treatise on the Art of Making Silk, with Instructions How to Plant and Dress Vines," dated 1622, £67.

"True Account of Buccaneers in America," by Exquemeling, printed by William Crooke, 1684-1685, £55.

Lederer's "Discoveries in Three Marches from Virginia to the West of Carolina," 1670, with the map and the rare leaf of license, £120.

"General Laws and Liberties of the Massachusetts Colony," Boston, 1672, original sheepskin, £105.

Capt. John Smith's "Map of Virginia," 1612, with the very rare folding map, a number of leaves mended, £120. This book rarely occurs with the map, which was the first issue of the map of Virginia, later used in the "Generall Historie."

Thomas's "New Jersey," 1698, with the folding map, title page mended, a few leaves repaired in lower inner corner, £109.

ENGLISH BOOK AUCTIONEERS.

THE death of William Simpson, the surviving partner and head of the famous firm of book auctioneers, Puttick & Simpson, of Leicester Square, London, at the age of eighty-seven, removes from the trade of book auctioneers its most venerable figure. The house of Puttick & Simpson, according to the London Bookseller, "was established in or about the year 1780 by Mr. Stewart, who was succeeded by Mr. Wheatley, in conjunction with Mr. Adlard; they were in turn succeeded by Mr. Fletcher, who disposed of the business to Mr. Puttick. Their first house was situated in Piccadilly, No. 191; but in 1859 they removed to a more central position at 47 Leicester Square, a former mansion of Sir Joshua Reynolds, which up to that date had been occupied by the Western Literary Association. In 1870 Mr. Puttick left the firm to join Debenham, Storr & Sons, his interest in the business being purchased by Mr. Simpson, who thus became sole proprietor, though he continued it under the same style. Mr. Puttick died in 1873. The oldest firm in the trade is that of Sotheby, Wilkinson & Hodge, which was founded by Samuel Baker in 1744 at a house in York Street, Covent Garden; the first establishment of its kind in this country. In 1774 Baker took into partnership George Leigh, an auctioneer of King Street, Covent Garden, and the style of the firm for some years was S. Baker & G. Leigh. Later on Baker's nephew, John Sotheby, became a partner, and when Baker died in 1778 the firm was styled Leigh & Sotheby. It was again changed in 1800 to Leigh, Sotheby & Son, owing to the admittance of Sotheby's nephew, Samuel, into the partnership. In 1803 the business was moved to 145 Strand.

John Sotheby died in 1807, and Leigh in 1815, after which date Samuel continued it by himself, removing in 1817 to 3, Waterloo Street, Strand. In due course he took his son, Samuel Leigh Sotheby, into the firm, which then became Sotheby & Son, and the house was eventually removed to 13 Wellington Street. Samuel Sotheby died in 1842, aged 71, and his son was accidentally drowned in the River Dart in 1861. In 1863 Mr. John Wilkinson, F.S.A., who had for many years acted as principal accountant to the firm, and since 1843 had been a partner, obtained entire control of the business. The urbanity of his manners in the rostrum, and the thorough knowledge of books which he possessed, made his a clarum et venerabile nomen in the trade. He passed away in 1894 at the ripe old age of 91. Another house of some note during the early years of last century was that of King & Lochee, who, at 38 King Street, Covent Garden, transferred many costly libraries from one collector to another; though in later years their rooms were devoted to the sales of other than books. Robert Harding Evans, of 93 Pall Mall, became famous in 1812 by the sale of the Roxburghe library, and many other important collections passed under his hammer, notably that of the Duke of Sussex, and the Sykes, Spencer, Dent, Hoare, Broadley, and Hibbert libraries. The last-named collection was distributed in 1829, and Messrs. Sotheby sold the library of Colonel Hibbert, a close relation, on the 9th of April this year. Evan's catalogues were noted for their excellence of detail, and his catalogue of the Sykes collection extorted praise from the critical Dibdin. Evans retired from business in 1846. Mr. J. W. Southgate commenced business in 1824 at No. 22 Fleet Street, in conjunction with Mr. Grimston and Mr. Wells. In course of time Mr. Grimston seceded from the firm to establish a similar business of his own somewhere in Holborn; but he met with poor success. Mr Southgate was eventually succeeded by a son, who continued the traditions of the house, taking Mr. Barrett into partnership. Another Fleet Street auctioneer was L. A. Lewis, who began in a small way in 1825 at a house near the Bank of England. He moved first to the Poultry, and afterwards to No. 125, Fleet Street, relinquishing the business in 1874. Amongst the numerous libraries sold by Lewis was that of William Pickering, the famous publisher of Chancery Lane, in 1854. Last but by no means the least, we come to the famous house of Hodgson, of Chancery Lane. The birth of this firm was due to the initiation of Mr. Robert Saunders, who started the business in Old Compton Street, Soho, removing to Fleet Street in 1812, where he rapidly formed a trade connection. He was joined about 1824 by Mr. Edmund Hodgson, the son of a well-to-do and much-respected bookseller in Wimpole Street. After the partnership had existed for some years, Saunders abandoned the auctioneering business altogether to form the once flourishing law-publishing house of Saunders & Benning, of Fleet Street, who were the successors of Joshua Butterworth; and Mr. Hodgson became sole proprietor. He continued the business with marked success, his punctuality and promptness in settling accounts soon making his name widely known; and the sale rooms —at that time situated on the block at the corner of Chancery Lane and Fleet Street, where Messrs. Partridge & Cooper's well-known establishment now stands—were always well attended by influential buyers. On retiring from business he was succeeded by his son, Mr. Henry Hodgson, a few years later by Mr. Barnard, and subsequently by Mr. Henry Hill Hodgson, the present proprietor, who is one of the treasurers of the Booksellers' Provident Institution. Mr. Edmund Hodgson was one of the founders, and at one time president, of that deserving charity. He died in 1875, aged eighty-one."

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

UNAUTHORIZED USE OF AUTHOR'S NAME PROHIBITED.

By the action of the Supreme Court, Justice Giegerich, sitting in Special Sessions, the publishers of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly recently secured an injunction against John Brisben Walker to restrain him from publishing the July issue of the Cosmopolitan Magazine. The circumstances attending the case are unique in contemporary publishing. After the famous description of the ship "Roraima" at the eruption of Mt. Pelee, the first survivor to reach New York was Chief Officer Ellery S. Scott. His exclusive magazine story was at once secured by the editors of Leslie's Monthly, with the written understanding that a single New York daily paper had already succeeded in interviewing Mr. Scott, but that no periodical had any right whatever to make use of his name. The Cosmopolitan then approached Mr. Scott, but the latter, obeying the terms of his contract, absolutely refused his signature. Failing in this direction, the Cosmopolitan bought an account re-written from the original newspaper story, and published it over Scott's signature. Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly alleged that this was a breach of faith with the public, which unwarrantably interfered with the success of its own authentic story. Although no previous cases have been decided upon exactly similar facts, an injunction against the Cosmopolitan was obtained upon these grounds, and Mr. Walker, recognizing the priority of the claims of Leslie's Monthly, consented to have reprinted all the covers of his magazine under his control, which bore Scott's signature prominently displayed, and to make satisfactory arrangements with Leslie's Monthly, which, for its part, allowed the injunction to be withdrawn.

EDISON LOSES COPYRIGHT IN MOVING PICTURES.

Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, on June 25, was refused a preliminary injunction by Judge Dallas in the United States Circuit Court, Philadelphia, in the equity suit which he instituted against Sigmund Lubin, of Philadelphia, to have the latter enjoined from infringing on an alleged copyrighted life-moving picture film called "The Launching of Emperor Wilhelm's Yacht 'Meteor.'" Ex-

Judge Howard W. Hayes unsuccessfully contended on behalf of Mr. Edison that no matter how many separate pictures were on one positive film, the same could be copyrighted as a whole by one registration. Mr. Hayes will take an appeal.

OBITUARY NOTES.

THE RIGHT REV. WILLIAM GARDEN COWIE, Bishop of Aukland, died at Wellington, New Zealand, June 26. He was born in 1831 at Auchterless, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, and was graduated from Trinity Hall, Cambridge, in 1854. He was Chaplain to Lord Clyde's army at the capture of Lucknow, in 1858, and then was Chaplain to the Governor General of India, until 1863. He was consecrated Bishop of Auckland in 1869. He had been Primate of New Zealand since 1895. He was the author of "Notes on the Temple of Cashmere," "A Visit to Norfolk Island," and "Our Last Year in New Zealand."

CHARLES SOTHERAN, journalist, author and bibliographer, died June 27 at his home in New York City. He was born at Newington, Surrey, Eng., July 8, 1847. After leaving St. Marie's, Rugby, he became associated with book business in London. In 1874 he came to the United States and began reportorial work on the New York World. He afterward served as literary writer on a number of other publications, being at one time editor of the New York Echo, The Bibliopolist, etc. For a time he prepared the auction catalogues for George A. Leavitt & Co. He was the author of "Alessandro di Cagliostro, Impostor or Martyr?" "Percy Bysshe Shelley as a Philosopher and Reformer;" "Horace Greeley and Other Pioneers of Socialism;" "The Theatres of New York," and a number of separate bibliographies. He was associated with many societies and clubs, a prominent Mason and Sheikh of Kaaba.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

YVETTE GUILBERT has written another story which she calls "Les Demi Veilles."

JUSTIN MCCARTHY has projected another volume of his reminiscences to be entitled "Portraits of the Sixties," which he will finish as soon as his work on the "Reign of Queen Anne" is off his hands.

SIR LO FENG LAH, of the Chinese Legation in London, has been appointed official biographer of Li Hung Chang. A small army of Chinese men of letters are at work collecting material for the biography, which is to be issued in thirty volumes. There is a possibility of an abridged edition in English.

IT appears that the report that Jules Verne is doomed to total blindness is greatly exaggerated. He has for some time been troubled with a cataract growth, but is able to work. He has just completed his eighty-second book, "Jean Marie Cabidoulin," and has seventeen more written and nearly ready for publication. These will be published at the rate of two a year.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Dolphin is the title of an "Ecclesiastical Monthly for Educated Catholics," just begun in New York City.

Sports and Pastimes is the name of a new monthly edited and published by C. P. Hurditch, at 226 South Fourth Street, Philadelphia. Each number is accompanied by colored portraits of local sportsmen. The June number exhibits Barclay Warburton in coaching dress.

The New York Observer has passed into the hands of the Rev. Dr. John Bancroft Devins, who will edit the journal, and John A. Offord, who will continue the business management. The new owners have been connected with the paper for several years. The Observer was founded in 1823 by Sidney E. and Richard C. Morse. In 1858 it passed into the hands of Dr. S. I. Prime and Sidney E. Morse, jr., the latter being succeeded in 1873 by Dr. Charles A. Stoddard, a son-in-law of Dr. Prime. In 1885, when Dr. Prime died, Dr. Stoddard became editor, and has furnished an "Augustus" letter every week since that time, taking the place occupied by the "Irenæus" letters for more than forty years. Dr. Stoddard will continue his weekly letter and the paper will be conducted along the general lines that made it the leading Presbyterian paper in the country.

Harper's Weekly with its issue for July 5 appears in a new form and in a new dress marking a distinct advance in weekly pictorial journalism. The contributors include such men as W. D. Howells, Mark Twain, Anthony Hope, Richard Harding Davis, Robert W. Chambers, Gilbert Parker, Henry Loomis Nelson, Booth Tarkington, John Kendrick Bangs, Carl Snyder, E. S. Martin, Thomas A. Janvier, E. W. Townsend, Sydney Brooks, Hamblen Sears, James MacArthur, and many other specialists. The editorial section under the direction of Colonel Harvey has already attracted wide comment and is truly said to have "set the highwater mark for modern journalistic enterprise." The cover of the new Weekly is striking, its chief feature being the Bartholdi Statue in New York Harbor of "Liberty Enlightening the World." The first issue comprises 44 pages, including a double-page picture in colors.

BUSINESS NOTES.

COUNCIL GROVE, KAN.—Captain J. S. Winans has bought the bookstore here and will enlarge and improve the stock.

HARTFORD, CONN.—G. W. Blanchfield, formerly of 47 High Street, Newark, has settled in this city at 58 Ann Street at the sign of the "Garrett Book Shoppe."

LINCOLN, NEB.—S. Hall has succeeded Wilson & Hall, booksellers.

MONTGOMERY, PA.—A new bookstore has been opened in the Mirror Building.

SALEM, W. VA.—H. B. Smith, of the West Union Record, will open up a bookstore and news stand in the Smith Building.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

E. P. DUTTON & Co have just ready "The Home Aquarium," by Eugene Smith, giving a description of the various plants and animals that thrive in the aquarium, and practical suggestions for their care.

JAMES POTT & Co. have in preparation a work entitled "The Builders of the Republic," by the author of "Famous Homes of New York," who describes twenty-four of the tremendous personalities who, from the chaos of royal, and colonial government and misgovernment, brought forth our republic.

HARPER & BROTHERS followed up their very handsome attention to the delegates of the American Booksellers' Association, by sending each one present a fine photograph of the group taken on the occasion of their visit to Franklin Square on June 16. A reproduction of this photograph was printed through the courtesy of Harper & Brothers in our issue for June 28.

W. L. WASHBURN, (The Palmetto Press,) Aiken, S. C., will publish shortly a reprint of "An Elegie upon the Death of the Reverend Mr. Thomas Shepard," by Urian Oakes, following the form and spelling of the copy of the first edition in the Brown University Library. There will be two editions—125 copies on hand-made paper and 25 copies on Japanese paper.

J. F. TAYLOR & Co. have secured from F. Newell Gilbert and Leon Mead, of Binghamton, N. Y., their "Manual of Forensic Quotations," a collection of celebrated passages and eloquent sayings derived from jury arguments of celebrated lawyers. The book will contain over thirty rare photographs of distinguished lawyers—English and American—from the time of Lord Erskine to the present period.

D. APPLETON & Co. have made arrangements to print the autobiography of a convict under the title of "As I Sailed." This is said to be the production of a man who was a sailor in a whaling vessel, then in a merchant ship, then in the British navy, then an ensign in the American navy, taking part in the attack of Fort Fisher. Then he "runs the whole yellow streak of worthlessness, which ended in a quarter of a century behind prison bars," and died in a Western penitentiary. The editor, Stanley Waterloo, speaks of the man's unconscious self-revelation in this autobiography, in which he regrets nothing and betrays no sense of shame or contrition. They will publish early in the fall the first volume of Mme. Adam's memoirs, "Romance of My Childhood and Youth"; a series of Charles Darwin's letters, edited by his son, Francis Darwin; also H. G. Wells's new novel, "The Sea Ready."

THE executors of Walt Whitman's estate, Thomas B. Harned, Horace L. Traubel, and Professor Oscar L. Triggs, are preparing a final and definite edition of all the writings of the "good gray poet," to be entitled the Camden Limited Edition. G. P. Putnam's Sons will publish the edition in ten octavo volumes, limiting the issue to one thousand sets. The first 100 sets will be extra illustrated in water colors, and in them will be bound some of the poet's own manuscripts. These will be offered at $1,000 a set. Other issues, differing in the style of binding, and, of course, in the matter of autographic illustrations, will be offered at prices ranging down from $500 to $60 a set. Horace L. Traubel proposes to publish in facsimile Whitman's personal copy of "Leaves of Grass," the edition printed by Thayer & Eldridge, Boston, 1860-'61, in which he did much of the work of revision for the edition that followed five years later. This copy of "Leaves of Grass" is historic. It is the volume abstracted by Secretary Harlan from Whitman's desk in the Interior Department and made the basis for his discharge from that branch of service. An account of this incident, written by Whitman himself, will be photographically reproduced and included in the reprint. The edition will be limited to 500 copies, and the price fixed will be $10 for each copy. The text matter of the volume will be printed from the original plates, which still exist. The chirographical matter in Whitman's hand will be superimposed and printed in exact facsimile.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS announces for publication during the summer months a volume entitled "The Diary and Correspondence of Wilhelm Müller." The work will be edited by Dr. Philip S. Allen, of the Germanic Department of the University of Chicago, assisted by Dr. James Taft Hatfield, of the Germanic Department of the Northwestern University. In order to preserve as far as possible the original qualities of the work the book will be done in German type. Wilhelm Müller was the father of Dr. Max Müller of Oxford, and was one of the most pleasing lyricists of the nineteenth century. He was a conspicuous representative of the later romantic school of Germany. In view of the fact that the library and personal papers of Wilhelm Müller were all destroyed by fire many years ago it is improbable that any other intimate record of the poet's activities and strivings will ever be published. The University of Chicago Press also announces the completion and appearance in book form of Volume III. of the Studies in Classical Philology. These volumes are under the editorial direction of a committee of the faculty of the Classical Departments of the University and consist of contributions from representative teachers. The volume which is just appearing contains three contributions, the first, entitled "Papyri from Karanis," by Dr. Edgar J. Goodspeed; the second, "The Use of Repetition in Latin to Secure Emphasis, Intensity and Distinctness of Impression," by Dr. Frank F. Abbott; and the third, "Epideictic Literature," by Theodore C. Burgess. The papers are all technical in nature, the first being distinctly brief, the latter forming the bulk of the volume.

PICK UPS.

A NEW book by the author of the "Dolly Dialogues" suggests the fine distinction made by a New York woman who, when asked what Anthony Hope had written, promptly replied: "'The Dolly Dialogues' and 'The Prisoner of Zenda.' All the rest are by a man named Hawkins."

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

The English Exploration of America.

We are living in a new period of expansion and great changes on the map of the world, such as there has not been since the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. It is interesting, at such a time, to look back to the period when our forefathers expanded into this New World.

THE FOLLOWING OLD SOUTH LEAFLETS HAVE BEEN ADDED TO THE SERIES:

"John Cabot's Discovery of North America," "Sir Francis Drake on the California Coast," "Frobisher's First Voyage," "Sir Humphrey Gilbert's Expedition to Newfoundland," "Raleigh's First Roanoke Colony," "Gosnold's Settlement at Cuttyhunk," "Captain John Smith's Description of New England," and Richard Hakluyt's Discourse on Western Painting."

These leaflets are Nos. 115–122 in the Old South series, which is now so large. They are made up from original documents of the period, and are all accompanied by careful historical and bibliographical notes. Sold for five cents a copy, they place at the service of the schools and the public a most important mass of historical papers not otherwise easily accessible.

DIRECTORS OF THE OLD SOUTH WORK, Old South Meeting House, Boston, Mass.

A SUCCESSFUL publisher is one who constantly seeks to get the best value for the least money. That's why I am a successful bookbinder. Also because I turn out the highest grade of work at from ten to twenty-five per cent. less than anyone else. How do I do it? That is the burning question amongst the trade to-day.

My answer is, "Don't ask the why and the wherefore," but send me your stamps and dummies and I will make up samples which will show the highest character of work and upon which I will give you estimates that cannot be met. My equipment and plant is the finest and one of the largest of its kind in the country. Large output and small profits are the keystones to my success. Don't take my word for these statements. Come and see for yourself.

MR. MAJOR'S new novel

is the most popular of all the novels of the day.

It is a love story founded on an episode in the authentic history of one of the best known of the great English families.

It has proved to be so popular with the public that imitations of it and adaptations of the original story are already on the market and promise to be numerous.

the original novel, is by

MR CHARLES MAJOR, author of "When Knighthood Was in Flower," and in purchasing this book which the critics say is "one of the best and most brilliant books of the day," it is wise to see that none of the inferior stories of similar title is offered to you instead.

"Imitation is the sincerest flattery," but the many imitations of Mr. Major's "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" appearing just as the real book is entering on its second hundred thousand copies, form an interesting commentary on the ethics of some members of the publishing trade of to-day.

MR. CHARLES MAJOR'S novel is best described as a delightful story, a bright romance, dramatic and picturesque; a love story pure and simple, yet interesting throughout to all classes of readers.
